

I have a bachelor's degree in education, Mass Communications and 45 additional master's credits. I am a teacher at Cambridge-Isanti High School and a part-time stand-up comedian. Over the years, I have won numerous writing, coaching and educational awards. Most recently (in 2020), I was awarded District 911 Teacher of Excellence and East Central Minnesota Cooperative Teacher of Excellence in Innovation.

I have served in numerous leadership positions, and I will bring that experience to the board. I also have Celiac Disease, which gives me great insight into the gluten-free life and the necessity of keeping excellent gluten-free selections at the Market.

Over the last year, I have completely changed my life by eating healthier, which is largely due to the City Center Market. However, I believe many people haven't yet discovered how vital this Market is and will realize this with some education and exposure.
