

Kathryn is passionate about holistic health and consumes a vegan diet; a diet and lifestyle that shopping at City Center Market has supported over the years. She thoroughly enjoys cooking and baking new, healthy, and fun meals for her partner and young son and hosting “Meatless Monday’s” with her neighbors when she can. She wishes to keep her family and community healthy and vibrant and believes that this is achieved by mindfully eating and sourcing healthy food and products locally.

Kathryn also appreciates and trusts that the food and products purchased at City Center Market for her family and home are not only good for them, but are also more earth-friendly.

Kathryn looks forward to serving on the board and providing her vegan perspective as well as meeting and getting to know more of the owners and shoppers over the years to come.