

I've Lived in East Bethel most of my life. I grew up gardening and raising chickens. When I met my husband, we decided to open our own business. We raised two wonderful children and we ran a successful dental laboratory for over 20 years. When the industry began to change, we decided to move on to being vendors at farmers markets where I would sell my baked goods and canned items. We had lots of fruit trees and wild berries that made all sorts of jellies, as well as a garden with lots of vegetables. We would set up at the Cambridge Farmers Market which is outside of City Center Market. When my husband passed away, I decided I wanted to look for work closely involved with natural foods since we were always outside growing and harvesting our own food. I worked at City Center Market, where I have been a member for over 10 years. I became a board member because I believe everyone should have a chance to enjoy what the co-op has to offer and I would like to try and let more people know the wonderful experience that the co-op brings for the whole family.
